Packets for Philadelphia.

THE subscriber having established a Line of Packets, between Philadelphia and Wilmington, N. C. takes this method to acquaint the public, that a vessel will leave Wilmington, N. C. for Philadelphia, every ten days. Produce intended for this conveyance, will be received and forwarded by Duncan Thompson, Esq. of Fayetteville, N. C. and Messrs. Stow & Whittier, of Wilmington, N. C. at the lowest rates of freight, and least expense possible. NOTICE.

THE subscriber respectfully informs the public that he has erected a machine for the purpose of making shingles, at Mr. Daniel McNeil's Mills, Little River, which will of its own operation, make shingles at the rate of 3,500 a day, all ready for laying, being all of the same length, width and thickness, perfectly straight on both edges, and of a true taper from butt to point, without injuring the wood in the least in its operation, all who feel desirous to satisfy themselves by demonstration, can, by calling at said Mills 12 miles from Fayetteville. The labor necessary for operating said machine is very trifling, and not at all fatiguing. The great ease and facility in making this valuable and useful kind of lumber in this way supercedes the necessity of any further recommendation than its own performance and the lumber it produces, both of which it is believed will bear the most strict scrutiny and thorough investigation. He can put several more in operation, at a short notice—they may be operated by horse, steam or water, requiring power equal to the draft of half a ton. The right to the above machine is secured to the inventors according to law.

This seat, in goodness of soil, salubrity, elegance of situation and buildings, is inferior to few in the state. Valuable Lands & Mills for Sale

THE subscriber offers for sale, 12,000 acres of Land, on Lower Little River, in Cumberland county, on which there are about 150 or 200 acres of valuable Swamp Land: a part of it is cleared and produces good hay, the rest abounds with reeds, and would winter a large stock of cattle, and could be enclosed at a small expense. The remainder of the land is covered with the best pine for lumber, &c. There are on the above lands two Saw-Mills, with two saws in each frame; both of which have been lately re-built, and are in the best order. There is a good bridge over the river at the mills. Also, some cleared ground, under good fence; a handsome garden; and the necessary buildings for carrying on the business. Oxen, timber, wheels, and the necessary tools, may be had with the mills.

Also, 1000 acres on Upper Little River, in Moore county, known by the name of the Garter Place, which is well known to be one of the most valuable tracts of land in that part of the country. It lies well, abounds with excellent springs, and a mill site within fifty yards of the houses. The whole of it is either good bottom or cotton land of a superior quality. It has a good orchard, and a large quantity of open land.

Also, one lot and the buildings thereon, situated in the town of Fayetteville, on Green street, lately occupied by Mr. Joseph Baker; and also, one lot situated on Person street, at the foot of the hill towards Campbelton.

I deem it unnecessary to be more minute in describing the above property. The Mills, Lands, &c. on Lower Little River will, in my absence, be shown to those who may wish to purchase, by Mr. Angus Killy, who lives in the neighborhood. The lots in Fayetteville, by Mr. Duncan Thompson, and the lands in Moore county, by myself. I will sell all or any part of the above property very low, for cash, or on a liberal credit. 51tf

PASSING ... STORY.

... tumult still to range
Ours the wild ... study every change,
From toil ...

...AR EXPEDITION.

THE ...letter from an officer employed ... discovery expedition, dated on ... the Hecla, Whale Fish Isles, Da... traits, July 2. 1824.—

"We put in here on the 20th ult. for the purpose of clearing the transport and sending her home again.—You would be really surprised to see us; I never in my life could have imagined a ship so full, and I am satisfied it will take us one year to eat the ship tolerably clear. Only fancy to yourself 44 quarters of fresh beef, hanging about the vessel in every direction. How much more favorable every thing looks this trip than it did this time three years; we are now in 69 deg. north latitude, without having met the least obstruction, and during the whole time we were out before, we never got higher than 70. In short, we were at least 18 months before we could reach our present parallel, and we certainly have a very different prospect. Our means are good beyond every hope, our captain able and willing, and, take my word for it, we shall either do something or lose every thing. I am now writing in our mess, at twelve at night, with as good day light as you have in England at noon. We shall, if necessary, have to pay for this next winter. The place we are at present lying at, is a Danish settlement; the inhabitants are composed of Danes and Esquimaux; the latter are, in my mind, very inferior to our acquaintance of last voyage, their mixture with the Danes appearing not to have improved them. Their language and dress are much the same, and I am not aware that they differ in any material points. We shall leave this either to morrow or next day, should the wind permit us. I think in all my trips I have never seen a more barren spot than the place we are now lying at, the greater part of the land being covered with snow and such as is clear is nothing but solid rock."

THE ASHANTEES.

Cape Coast Castle, May 8.—Mr. Williams, the Colonial Secretary, who was taken on the disastrous 21st January, and who was with Sir Charles, Buckle, and Wetherill, at the time they were killed, and is now at Elmina, having been fortunate enough, through the interposition of the Dutch Governor, to be allowed by the Ashantees to remain a prisoner at that place until the war may be terminated, related the following particulars of their deaths. He says in their retreat, Sir Charles first had his arm broken by a shot, and was afterwards wounded in the chest and fell:—he thinks the wound was mortal. Buckle, Wetherill, and himself, then moved Sir Charles, and put him under a large tree, where they sat with him for a few moments, perceiving that their fate was inevitable, the enemy having surrounded them. He (Mr. Williams) then received a ball in the thigh, and saw poor Wetherill, who was lying close to Sir Charles, cutting at the Ashantees with his sword as they were tearing the clothes off Sir Charles. At this time he received another shot, which having hit him in the head, stunned him: when he came to himself, he saw the bodies of Sir Charles, Buckle, and Wetherill, headless trunks. Mr. Williams' life was saved by an Ashantee of superior authority coming up at the time they were about cutting off his head.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

Pittsfield Mass Sept. 23 ... On the 18th inst. about the middle of the day, there was a tremendous explosion at the Powder Factories of Messrs. Loflin & Loomis, in Lee. In some inconceivable manner, a spark of fire was produced in the glazing house, which instantly exploded; and in about half a minute there was an explosion of the hot-houses, which was situated some rods from the other. In the glazing-house, there was about 2500 lbs. of Powder, and in the hot-house about 500 lbs. The effects of the explosion would have been felt far more seriously, if it had not been for the removal of five tons of Powder from the hot-house a few days since. Both buildings were blown to atoms, and the fragments fell in all directions, some being carried to the distance of from a quarter to a half a mile. Most of the timbers were shivered to pieces, but one stick, of the weight of three or four hundred, was carried near fifty rods. About thirty buildings in the vicinity were more or less injured; a great portion of windows broken, boards torn off, and, in some instances, the roofs raised. It is a curious fact, that, the sides of some buildings were broken in by the pressure on the outside; and in other cases they were broken out by the superior pressure of the air on the inside, after the force on the outside was exhausted.

Stockbridge, Massachusetts, Sept. 23 — Exactly at 11 o'clock, on Saturday last, the Powder Mills in Lee, owned by Messrs. Loflin, Loomis & Co. were blown to atoms, with two tremendous reports, (about 10 or 15 seconds apart) that shook the buildings in this town (a distance of four miles) to their very base. The column of smoke which arose, on this occasion, in the eastern horizon, was truly grand and imposing—it past off to the southwest, and its course was distinctly marked for one hour. The buildings in the vicinity of the mills, were more or less injured—every window of Messrs. Ball & Bassett's Woolen Factory was dashed in, and the building otherwise shattered. But the most distressing circumstance of all, is the loss of lives. Three were killed, and one so severely wounded that his life is in imminent danger. The first explosion took place in the Glazing Mill; in which were Messrs. Targee & Sparks—one of whom was blown over the top of a tree, at least 30 feet in height, into the river—the other was found at the distance of 10 or 15 rods from the spot—both were dead and their bodies mangled in a shocking manner. Mr. Beach was in the drying building, and was found in the mill-pond, at some distance from the mill, an hour or two afterwards. Hinckley, the person wounded, was on the floor outside the glazing-mill, and was thrown into the river.

Westfield, Mass. Sept. 22.—Sparks, Tourgee and Beach, were instantly killed, and Hinckley lingered until Monday evening, when he expired in the greatest agony; he remained in full possession of his reason until the last.—Mr. Hinckley narrowly escaped a similar death last fall, when two of his companions were killed, and at that time resolved to continue no longer in the business, and has frequently during the past summer, (says our informant) begged to be discharg'd from his employmen but was not able to obtain a discharge on account of his having been previously engaged for the year, and no one could be found sufficiently capable to fill his station, therefore his employers compelled him to remain!

This is the sixth time these mills have been blown up this season, and six men have been killed. The explosion was greater than was ever known in these parts and so loud the report, that it was distinctly heard in this town, a distance of between thirty and forty miles.

From the N. Hampshire Patriot, Sept. 20.

Wonderful Preservation.—On Monday the 6th inst. while a young woman was attempting to draw water from a well of Dudley Nelson, of Gilmanton, the board on which she stood broke, and she, together with the fragments of the board and a tin pail were precipitated to the bottom of the well, which was 23 feet deep, at the bottom of which were five or six feet of water.—Mrs. Nelson, who immediately learned what had happened, was under the necessity of going a considerable distance for help, and expected on returning to find the unfortunate young woman lifeless at the bottom of the well: but they were much surprised on entering the house to find that she had succeeded in climbing the distance of 28 feet, and extricating herself from her perilous situation without any aid or assistance. The above-mentioned well was stoned of uncommon dimensions, and was unprotected by any curb. And to the astonishment of all she was not essentially injured—took no cold, and remains as well as usual, notwithstanding she went under water twice before she made out to grasp at any thing by which she might keep herself above water, until she had time to rest and collect her thoughts. But she appears to have a very imperfect knowledge how she came to the top of the well, or how she kept herself above water.

Mexico.—It appears from Mexican papers of the 14th Aug. that the Legislatures of the different states had presented addresses of congratulation to the general government on the prompt execution of Iturbide, an event which is justly considered as a final blow to all the hopes of the enemies of liberty in that country. The utmost unanimity prevailed as to the excellence of constitutional liberty, and the detestation of the principles of the "Holy Alliance," whose sole object is "the degradation of the human species that tyrants only may sway the universe." The nomination of Don Pablo Obregon as Ambassador to the United States, was confirmed by the Supreme Congress on the 4th of Aug. This body was occupied with the provisions of the new constitution, and other matters calculated to consolidate the independence and prosperity of the Mexican people.

LOUISIANA.

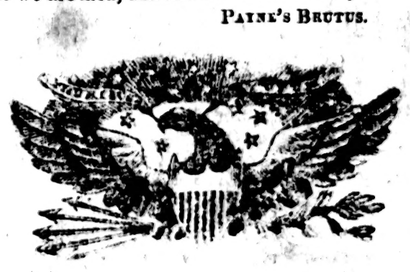
NEW ORLEANS, AUGUST 30—The Presidential question appears to be settling down very fast and if we are to take the sentiments of the most respectable Gazettes in the U. States, as the medium by which the people's choice is to be demonstrated, it is very clear that JOHN QUINCY ADAMS is the most popular candidate, and will be the next President of the United States. All the weight of the nation is with him—his supporters are men of the first rate talents and influence in society. Let the Legislature of New York decide which way it will their decision will be favorable to Mr. ADAMS; for it is ascertained that he has by far the greater number of the members of that body, who are friendly to him.

General Jackson stands deservedly high in the estimation of his fellow citizens, and is the only competitor that can be said to be an opponent of Mr. Adams. As to Messrs. Clay and Crawford they are entirely out of the question—neither of them will be able to keep their ground. Louisiana will either vote for Jackson or Adams

A letter from Stockolm says, "two sons of Marshal Ney and a son of the French General Count d'Erlon, have arrived here, to enter into the Swedish service.

POLITICAL.

"Great things may yet be done,
If we are men, and faithful to our country."
PAINE'S BRUTUS.



ELECTION, THURSDAY, NOV. 11.

Shall one-fourth dictate terms to three-fourths? Is this according to the ancient usages of the republican party? NO.

Formed by a nomination in each of the districts, of an elector for that district, the people's ticket unites the friends of Jackson and Adams. Although nearly every individual who composes it has a preference for Gen. Jackson, the ticket will do the will of the people—that will, undoubtedly is, to give the undivided vote of the state to the candidate who can unite the greatest number against the usurpations of a MINORITY Caucus. Who that man will be, the electors can easily determine, as before they vote—i. e. the first Wednesday in December, they will know what persons are chosen electors in every state in the union.

Let us remember, that our first object is to defeat the caucus usurpations. Our second to elect the man of our choice. If Jackson is chosen, we gain the first, and by far the most important of our objects. If Adams, both. If either, the usurpations are at an end, and we shall hereafter be free in the election of our Presidents.

☞Would it not be well, says the Raleigh Star, for the people to appoint a Committee of Correspondence in each of the districts?

☞It will be observed that Gen. Vine Allen, of Newbern, takes the place of Wm. S. Blackledge on the people's ticket. Mr. B. will continue his support to that ticket.

THE NOTIONAL NOMINATION,

By a caucus of about 60 members of Congress in opposition to the express wish of 180, is to be supported by the following ticket.

This ticket is pledged to do the work of the caucus—to oppose the MAJORITY, and support a minority in its usurpations.

CAUCUS TICKET—John Paxton, Rutherford—Shuck Franklin, Surry—Robert Williamson, Lincoln—James Legrand, Montgomery—Abraham Philips Rockingham—Alex. Gray, Randolph—Benj. H. Covington, Richmond—Tho. Ruffin, Orange—Nathaniel Jones, Wake—John Hall, Warren—George Outlaw, sen. Bertie—Cha. E. Johnson, Chowan—Tho. W. Blackledge, Beaufort—John Owen, Bladen—Wm. ODIUM OF THE CAUCUS.

The Editor of the National Standard, of Middlebury, Vermont, is threatened with a prosecution for a libel, for having permitted a correspondent to call some person a Crawfordite. We have always believed that the caucus of 1824, would be ranked with the Hartford Convention. In each case the minority wished to reduce the majority to unconditional submission.

Ridiculous Pretensions!—It is really laughable to hear the National Intelligencer and Raleigh Register say that the sagacious statesmen and steady yeomanry are just begininning to come out for Mr. Crawford. Every body knows that Mr. Crawford has been falling every day since the minority in Congress nominated him in opposition to the will of a great majority of the republican party and of the nation.

It is beyond all doubt that the radical editors say what they do not believe. They know they assert the things that are not; and they do it for the purpose of deceiving their readers. Will their readers thank them, will they hereafter confide in the veracity and the authentic intelligence of these papers? Or will they not rather in a few weeks bestow on them their bitterest execrations? The deceiver will have his reward.

It is said that if electors favorable to Mr. Crawford are not chosen in the New-England States, they will at least have a support which his friends will have reason to be proud of. It would be strange, indeed, if two or three thousand ultra federalists and Hartford Convention men could not be found in all New England ready to support Mr. Crawford. They do not like Mr. Adams. He gave too many mortal blows to their conspiracy.

"Principles, not men."—In North-Carolina the friends of Mr. Crawford complain of the "People's Ticket," because all the individuals composing it have not declared which of the two candidates, Adams or Jackson, they will vote for if elected: the declaration that they will obey the voice of the majority of those who elect them, is not deemed sufficiently republican, "Let them come out," say they, "and tell us which of the two candidates they will vote for."

In Connecticut and Massachusetts they have "come out," and the candidates for electors in these two states stand pledged to vote for John Q. Adams. But does this give better satisfaction? The friends of Mr. Crawford are there exerting themselves in getting up an "unpledged ticket," to unite the friends of all the other candidates, in opposition to Mr. Adams; and if by any means they could be successful, to throw them into the scale for Mr. Crawford. Thus we see, what in North-Carolina is termed gross deception, in New England becomes but the honest efforts of pure patriotism!—Hillsborough Recorder.

STATE OF NEW-YORK.

A substitute for the caucus.—Since the abuse of legislative caucuses has become manifest, other methods have been resorted to for the concentration of public opinion. It is notorious that members of congress and of the state legislatures are generally chosen for other purposes than that of nominating candidates to office; and, therefore, when they undertake that business may mis-represent their constituents.

To avoid this evil, the republicans of Pennsylvania the last winter elected delegates from their several counties for the sole purpose of nominating candidates. Chosen for this express object, they could not but speak the sentiment of that state. They assembled at Harrisburg and denounced the Washington caucus.

A similar assembly of delegates similarly chosen in forty [all but five] of the counties of New York met at Utica for the nomination of candidates for Governor and Lieut. Governor. There were 121 delegates and all of them concurred in naming Tallmadge for Lieut. Governor! and 99 voted for De Witt Clinton as Governor. The political faults of Mr. Clinton have certainly made him obnoxous to many men, but the anti-republican policy of Van Buren and his co-adjutors has, we think rendered it impossible to prevent the election of Mr. Clinton.

If men will madly wage war upon the people, and violate express and solemn obligations in order to defraud them of their just rights, they must take the consequences; there is no help and no pity for them. But we cannot help thinking how much safer an honest course had been.

The President and first Secretary of the Utica Convention, Governor Tayler and Capt. Coffin, are revolutionary patriots, each of them being upwards of eighty years of age.—Capt. Coffin has crossed the Atlantic, about sixty times, and on one of his homeward voyages, spoke a vessel off the Capes of the Chesapeake, which gave him the first intelligence of Braddock's defeat! Both Governor Tayler and himself were strong whigs during the revolution, taking an active part in the scenes of that day, and have ever since remained firm and undeviating republicans.

The news from Albany, where there was last year a contest for supremacy of unexampled duration, is such as to carry dismay to the faction which has withdrawn from the republican ranks and usurped the names of exclusive republicans and friends to regular nominations. About a THOUSAND gain in one year in one small city is but the prelude to a general discomfiture of the people's foes. The cities of New York, Hudson, &c. and the country towns will with out doubt show a similar spirit. Root, the Lieut. Governor is overthrown.

The People Triumphant in New-York.—In the Charter election, which took place at Albany on Tuesday, the People's Ticket prevailed throughout. At an early hour," says the Albany Daily Advertiser, "the regency saw that inevitable defeat awaited them in all the wards of the city save the second and fourth, and to these points all their energies were directed. But there, too, they were met by principle and put down! They had not an abiding place left. What has taken place in this city, is a foretaste of what is to happen when the FREEMEN of the state shall come to the BALLOT BOXES in NOVEMBER."

A letter from a friend at Albany, says the Commercial, gives us the following additional particulars: 1st ward, unanimous; 2d ward, 150 majority 3d ward, no opposition; 4th ward, 61 majority for the people, last year near 300 against them; 5th, ward, unanimous. The letter adds: In this county, De Witt Clinton will have 1000 majority."

Albany, Sept. 30.—Again we congratulate the electors of this city and the electors of this state, on the splendid triumph of principle at our charter election. The victory is complete, and the Regency has been prostrated by a force as overwhelming as it was unlooked for by them. It is in vain that they cry out Federalism—the city is radically democratic—they have been met in their strong holds and fastnesses, and they have been compelled to surrender at discretion.

Let it not be said that this result is no test whereby to judge of the November election; for the late contest was between the friends and the enemies of popular rights—the supporters and the opponents of the law—and in that light alone was the subject viewed. When all the wards but the fourth were given up as lost, that single point was supported by the whole force of the Regency, led on by the Comptroller, the Treasurer, the Attorney General and their aids, with the hope of sustaining themselves there at all hazards. The contest was severe, but principle triumphed and the faction was prostrated.

In the city the majority against the Regency and in favour of republican principles is more than SEVEN HUNDRED AND FIFTY. The Regency are in despair, and have summoned an extra council of the cabinet ministers of King Caucus to be held this morning, to devise ways and means to escape from the wrath to come.

Major Flagg a member of Assembly from Plattsburgh, N. Y. and a worthy associate of the other Major [Noah] having been elevated upon the electoral hill, and shown himself an opposer of popular rights, has been denounced by several meetings of his constituents, and like Governor Yates has been deserted by his own friends. They have nominated another person and we presume a better, to fill his place. So let the enemies of the people perish.

A flag struck!—We perceive by the Albany Argus, that Judge Fisk is nominated by the Bucktails of Clinton county, a candidate for the assembly, in place of Major Flagg, chairman of the immortal nine, who has been put down in his own county and by his own party, notwithstanding his earnest protestations that he was not opposed to the Electoral Bill!" This is evidence of the sentiments of the people, and shows that their rights are not to be violated, or their will disregarded with impunity.

Mr Noah.—The profligate Editor of the National Advocate, in nothing of our strictures, after his restoration to Editorship of the Advocate with "plenary powers," remarks, "As to any secret ... ing to the democratic party, I have ... As a party its course has been consistent, fair, and honourable; with the individuals lately referred to, I have no connexion. If they designedly injure that party, if they cross me in my path, or lay plots, organize plots, or push on confederates, to impair my just rights, or affect my interests, I will show the National Journal how far I am and can be independent."

We certainly never have seen so ineffectual an effort to escape. We called upon Mr. Noah to come out, and make the disclosures, which he had threatened to do, when he talked of establishing a new National Advocate." He had ... ed the leaders of Mr. Crawford's party in New York, in the most decisive terms of bribery, corruption, and profligacy. We have given his own words:

Now, we ask Mr. Noah, whether what he there asserts be true or not true. If true, what becomes of his veracity; if not, how can he reconcile his silence to his duty? As a faithful Editor, he is bound to expose all corrupt practices: and as he affects himself to be "independent," he cannot excuse his withholding from the public an exposure of the corrupt practices, on the part of Mr. Crawford's friends. Silence will be fatal to the character of himself and his party; for the rational conclusion will be that he has been einstated in his editorial rights, in order to prevent the very disclosure which he has menaced. And ... gate as he is, it is impossible for him to escape from the infamous condition in which he has placed himself; and we, therefore, expect nothing from him but a subterfuge, silence, or some ingenious evasion on the subject.—Nat. Journal.

Newbern, N. C. Oct 2.—We are informed by a gentleman from Hyde County, that at a battalion muster held at the Court House, a few days since, a vote was taken on the presidential question, when Jackson received 202, Adams 50, and Crawford 14. Our informant also says that the votes for Electors will be to the same ratio—and that the People's Ticket, in the good old republican county, will receive a triumphan majority. That such will be the result throughout the state, we confidently believe. This is rendered the more certain by the happy unanimity which appears to subsist between the friends of Mr. Adams and Gen. Jackson.

Edenton, October 5, 18...

We are authorized by Gen. KEDAR BALLARD to say, that being very unwilling to be the cause of dissension among the friends of the People's Ticket, he withdraws his name withdrawn as a candidate for Elector: believing, that Dr. Martin will vote, if elected, agreeably to the wishes of a majority of the citizens of this district.

It certainly is right that the majority should rule; Whoever calls for any thing else is no republican; no friend either to Jackson or ...

The withdrawal of General KEDAR BALLARD will dissipate the last hope of the caucus advocates, and ... that gentleman the approbation of the people.

is now the greatest harmony ... of the friends of ... administration; and nine or ten ... papers are firm in their adherence to the republican cause.

Connecticut.—The following article from the New-Haven Register, which was established in 1812, by Mr. Barber, its present conductor, is as good evidence as a newspapers can afford of the state of sentiment in that quarter. Mr. B. is a republican who endured the fiery trial of political persecution in the days that tried men's souls; when the republicans of Connecticut were shackled by the stand-up-test and were called upon to combat the Hartford Convention. The Register, the Courant and the Hartford Mercury, the only federal papers in Connecticut, which have through the grand political battles, ... been, and still are, firm in the support of the administration, and of the principles of the administration, and of the republican cause. These are the influential papers of Connecticut. Mr. Norton of the Middletown and the editors of the Middletown and New-London Advocate, who have about as much on their hands, who have about as many children as so many children.

"On the 1st of January, 1823, a paper ... called the "AMERICAN SENTINEL," was established in Middletown, by Messrs. ... and Niles, two young printers of respectable ... We noticed the appearance of this paper, and expressed a wish that its publishers might receive a liberal support from the republican family.—In following the Sentinel warmly opposed Mr. Foot's election to Congress. Knowing Mr. Foot was one of the best men the republican party in the state could boast of, and had done as much as any other man in the state to effect the late reform, our confidence in the Sentinel as a republican paper was from that time much diminished, knowing that the proprietors were young men, and had not experienced the effects of federalism and the difficulties of effecting a change, we forebore to notice their political course, attributing their error to the folly of men of more years and less discretion. Some weeks after this, the editor of the Sentinel announced their intention of supporting Mr. Adams for the presidency. We were glad to see them once more following the current of public sentiment among republicans in this state. They continued to support Mr. Adams until some time in the autumn of 1823, when Capt. Samuel H. Richards a Treasury Clerk, who had set up a paper at New London, (Unionist however, to the republican party,) visited the state, bringing instructions from the Treasury Department, to a sub agent in Middletown in this state, notifying him that "more papers must be got over." Accordingly the Sentinel was soon got over, and came out for Mr. Crawford and against Mr. Adams. We then merely noticed the political character of the paper, supposing it to be the work of others—believing the proprietors of the press to be then such as we believe them to be now, really in favour of J. Q. Adams. We have never intentionally given the printers and publishers of that paper provocation to admit into their columns language towards us well calculated to injure them, and to render a patronage necessarily limited, still more limited. We will not quarrel with the patrons of that paper now. We will hope that as they grow older they will grow wiser, and learn what is due to themselves and their readers.

FAC-SIMILE DOWN.—The arch hero of the Crawford party in the New-York Assembly, the gallant warrior of Saranac, the Chairman of the immortal nine (not the muses) had said while opposing the electoral bill, that he was acting in accordance with the will of his constituents. His constituents, the people of Clinton county, New York, held a convention not long since, and passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That this convention decidedly disapprove of the pitiful quibbling and ... tergiversation of our present member of assembly. He has mis-represented the sentiments of the county, and violated the solemn pledge he had given to his constituents. That we will use all honorable means to exclude from any office in our gift, any person who has thus opposed the passage of the electoral law, and the known wishes of the people.

At a meeting of the inhabitants of Beckmantown, in the same county, the following was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting, that we do consider the unprincipled conduct of Mr. Flagg and his supporters, as an open enemy to all good republicans, and republican principles; withholding from us our rights they have robbed us of that which is dearer to every true republican, than life itself. They have taken from us that LIBERTY, for which our forefathers fought, bled and died.

Extract of a letter to the Editor of the National Journal, from Vermont, dated September 24:

You may probably wish to know how the election has terminated in Vermont, as relates to the question of President. The people have had warning to look well to that subject, and they have done so.

The Governor, and Council, and a vast majority of the House of Representatives will be in favour of J. Q. Adams for President. A few Crawfordites are chosen, but to let you know the feelings of the people generally, I need only remark, that nothing was so fatal to a candidate, as an opinion among the people that he was in the interest of Crawford. They say, give us either of the candidates for President in preference to him. What is more, two actions of slander are already commenced, and now pending in this state, for calling the plaintiff a Crawfordite,—at least that is one of the charges; with a per quod he lost his election. What will the Crawfordites say to this?

The opposition to the administration which has been silently forming for three or four years, every day developes itself more and more; but unable to rally more than sixty members of congress who were willing to withdraw from the republican party, the radicals have no alternative but to contend against the people with the courage of despair. The places which once knew them will soon know them no more. Their ungenerous attacks upon the national administration will speedily consign this new opposition to private life. The fate of Lanman, Smith, Williams, Lowrie, Yates, Root, Dudley, Flagg, &c. &c. will be the fate of all.

Four-fifths of the old republican papers in the union are opposed to the caucus, and will continue, as they ever have been, the stedfast friends of the administration. The deserters who support the SIXTY SECEDERS, who went into the Washington caucus, are few in number, and with very few exceptions have always been quite feeble in influence. Even those of them who once had it, are rapidly losing it, as they have lost the confidence of the country.

OBSERVER.

FAYETTEVILLE:

THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 14, 1824.

We believe the Greeks have retaken Ipsara and Caso, and put from two to eight thousand Turks to the sword. It is even rumoured that the Turks have lost in these two expeditions, from 15 to 25,000 men: but we refrain from publishing the accounts till better informed, as we do not wish to present our readers with any thing which may turn out to be untrue.

The insurrection in Spain is suppressed, and the insurgents cut to pieces. Tariffa was taken by storm on the 19th of August, and only a single leader escaped—he took to an open boat. The wretched condition of the exiles and the number of their friends confined in Spain impelled them to this desperate enterprise. But it was better for them to die with arms in their hands in a last struggle for liberty than to drag out an unwelcome life in chains and bondage.

New Crawford Paper.—To save the name of circulating a few handbills, we suppose, a Semi-Weekly paper has just been established at WARRENTON, in Warren county. As we think it can have little patronage, somebody must pay liberally for a gratuitous distribution. Has this paper been established in order to withdraw the Raleigh Register from the keenest of the battle? Three of the old presses in Alabama, have just been purchased for the caucus; but it will not do; the hand of death has long been upon the caucus of February 14, 1824.

Fourteenth paper in North Carolina.—We have been gratified during the week by receiving a new paper, the Catawba Journal, from the hands of our old friend, Mr. Bingham. It appears under favourable auspices, and promises to be a valuable accession to our exchange. Mr. B. who has always been well known as an advocate of the national administration, and of the people's rights, is quite a veteran among the Journalists. This is the third paper in this state which has been under his superintendance, and the second he has established.

The following is the concluding paragraph of his introductory article.

For the generous patronage which has already been afforded us, we trust we feel sufficiently thankful; and we would fain hope that the manner in which we may discharge the duties of a public journalist may be such as to ensure its continuance. To expect to please every individual would at any time be futile, but particularly at the present: we indulge, therefore, no such flattering illusion; for experience, if not philosophy, would teach us, that what has never yet happened to others, is not likely to happen to us: we shall rest satisfied then, if our exertion to please by pursuing a manly and independent course, be only met on the part of our readers, by a correspondent disposition to be pleased. As much as this we think we have a right to claim; and we ask nothing more.

It is proper to observe that Mr. B. has for some time past been engaged in making preparations for his new establishment, and has not taken upon himself the editorial duties in the Observer Office during the last four or five months.

The Raleigh Register dislikes the practice, it says, of collecting the opinion of the people in relation to the Presidential election. So does every caucus press in the Union, and for the plainest reason in the world; they all know that "the opinion of the people" is decidedly against the caucus nominations, which have no other chance of success than by suppressing every where the expression of the opinion of the people.—National Journal.

The Western Volunteer has recently been established in Frankfort, Ken. as an advocate of Gen. Jackson. It says "there are at least 20 papers in that state devoted to Mr. Clay. Why should not one be devoted to Jackson?

REMARKS.

Cotton—We have had as yet but few Bales of the New Crop. 12½ cents readily obtained for good quality. The quantity at market is so small, that the price is not fairly established.

Flour and Wheat.—These articles come in daily in considerable quantities, are dull, and principally sold in barter at our quotations.

Groceries.—Coffee is abundant and dull. Sugar not plenty, and in demand. Salt, not so abundant a supply of this article as could be wished, but the river being in fine boating order, larger supplies may be expected, particularly Liverpool ground.—Large supplies of other articles in this line, are arriving, and expected in a few weeks.

Dry Goods.—Large quantities arriving, and expected. We presume a general assortment could be obtained at fair prices.

POLITICAL AND.

...Nothing.—The adher... Wh...ford, in New-England ...ored, in vain, to stem the ...rrent and produce an array ... their candidate, are now busy ... as the only thing they can do, in the work of misrepresentation.

To encourage their brethren at the South, now extremely hard pushed by the liberals, they publish notices of meetings in different parts of the country said to be hostile to Mr. Adams and endeavour to throw down a cloud of mystery around the proceedings of public assemblies. In New-Hampshire, Mr Isaac ... the Crawford leader, has lately addressed letters to the caucus, the Adams electoral ticket, in did...s of finding something in their re..., which may injure them in the opinions of the people. If he can get an expression on which he may found an accusation of Crawfordism, he will make use of it to promote distrust among the Adams men. From only one of the candidates has he, as yet, obtained any thing which he has thought proper to publish. This gentleman tells him, plainly, that he prefers John Quincy Adams to all the other candidates.

In Massachusetts, the Crawford gentlemen have made an essay at sham meetings, for the purpose of getting up an opposition ticket for electors. These meetings are very thin and do not think it prudent to nominate Crawford men—all they can hope for, is to produce confussion, by nominating one Adams man in opposition to another. In Berkshire they nominated Governor Eustis and Ex-Governor Brooks, two Adams men, in opposition to the Hon. Messrs. Gray and Lincoln, nominated at large on the regular Adams ticket. In Worcester, they nominated the Hon. Judge Strong, who was at that moment officiating as chairman of the regular Adams meeting, in opposition to one of the Adams candidates in that county. The same farce will, probably, be acted over in the other counties. They well know that none but Adams men can be elected; but they hope to produce a scattered vote, by opposing one to another, and they hope their friends in Virginia will take courage from this show of opposition here. Let them go on. Their race is as short as it is dishonorable.—Farmer's Journal.

More symptoms of increasing Crawfordism in Massachusetts.—The Boston Patriot is authorized to announce, that Governor Eustis and Governor Brooks, the Crawford Electors at large, both decline being considered candidates. Mr. Crawford is becoming so popular in that State, that it is difficult to find in his favor a sufficient number of persons even to fill up an electoral ticket.

ADAMS AND EUSTIS.

Boston Sept. 22.—An entertainment was given on Wednesday last by His Excellency the Governor at his residence at Shirley Place, Roxbury, to the Secretary of State and a number of gentlemen of distinction. Among the guests were the Attorney General of the State, Gen. H. A. S. Dearborn, the Mayor of Boston, Hon. James Lloyd, Judge Adams of Quincy, &c. The Secretary of the Navy and Commodores Chauncey and Morris had been expected, but were compelled by indispensable business to leave this part of the country on Tuesday morning. The company assembled at about five o'clock, and sat down at six to an elegant dinner. After the cloth was removed, a variety of patriotic and animated toasts were given, expressing for the most part the feelings of the company in regard to the issue of the approaching election of President and their wishes for the success of their distinguished guest.—The Secretary of State, who had recently been appointed an honorary member of the Bunker Hill Association gave, upon being called on, the appropriate sentiment—BUNKER HILL and YORKTOWN. The company remained till a late hour and the entertainment was enlivened by a display of cordiality and general good humour that is not always remarked at political dinners.

We are informed that the Secretary of state will remain in this neighborhood till the close of the week: and that he will then proceed to Washington, where he expects to meet with General LA FAYETTE about the first of October.

Boston, Sept. 25. 1824.—Hon. John Q. Adams and family, leave Boston this day, on their return to the Seat of Government. His short visit to Massachusetts has been highly gratifying to his friends, and particularly to his aged and venerable father it has been a source of gratification, easier imagined than described.

During his stay here, Mr. Adams was urged to express a willingness to attend a public dinner, which it was intended should be given in the "old cradle of Liberty," Faneuil Hall, where accommodations would have been prepared for eight or ten hundred citizens. But he declined so to do, because his visit was altogether one of duty and business, and a compliance with the wishes of his fellow citizens in this particular, would have interfered with those objects.

He carries with him the best wishes of the People of "OLD Massachusetts," with their earnest hope that on his next visit to them, the good sense and virtue of a free people may have bestowed on him the noblest reward of human ambition, the Presidency of the U. States.

It is really farcical to read in the Statesman of a "triumphant opposition" to the regular "people's ticket' nominated by the republican convention of this Commonwealth in June last, in favour of John Q. Adams. We much doubt if the Crawford Cabal with their Anti-General Ticket 'cant' will be able to nominate an opposition ticket. Should they, however, accomplish this, which is improbable, we speak from accurate information, when we state our belief, that a ticket formed by them, will not receive two thousand out of the SEVENTY THOUSAND votes of our Commonwealth.

THE DESERTERS AGAIN.

From the National Journal.

"I rather wish you foes than hollow friends."—If Shakspeare had never given another proof, this would have been sufficient to show that he had studied human nature with deep attention. The "hollow friends" alluded to here are those who profess one thing and practise another—who, sooner or later, must be found out, and who when found out, become ten fold more bitter enemies, than those who had been openly known as such. The Editors of the National Intelligencer seem determined to illustrate the truth of this observation.—Since their duplicity has been discovered, and punished by the withdrawal of the confidence once reposed in them, they have not ceased to assail, in terms of violence and passion, the great body of the republican party; indeed we may say the great majority of the American people, whom they have been unable to deceive, and who still remain firmly attached to the administration. They call them Ultras, habitually, and in a tone of deep and deadly hatred. Words, a French philosopher has said, are things. They may be so with the ignorant and superstitious; but only when used with dexterity and art. The Editors of the Intelligencer call the administration, and those who support it, ultras; but they greatly mistake the good sense of the American people, and in the same degree over estimate their own art and dexterity, if they suppose that their unsupported word will be taken for the thing. They must produce evidence of what they say, before they will succeed in affixing an odious epithet upon the Administration. They well know, that there never was an Administration more free from what they are pleased to call ultraism; that there never was one less persecuting; never one more moderate in all its system; never one more faithful and more true to the great principles which it was the aim of our revolution to establish. We defy the editors of the Intelligencer to point out a single act of the Administration which would warrant the application of the epithet which they are labouring to fix it, unless indeed they may so regard the withdrawal of its confidence from them. The truth is, that in all things, it is directly the reverse of ultra; and therefore it is, that the real ultras of both parties, namely, the Hartford Convention men among the federalists, and the Radicals among the republicans, with whom these Editors have associated their fate, make it the constant objects of their assaults. We believe that we are strictly borne out by facts, when we assert, that all the violent, of either party, are opposed to the Administration. We find, for example, in the ranks of this opposition, the master spirits of the Hartford Convention, and all those who cried out against the Executive "crucify him! crucify him!" simply because he did not choose to make the federal party the object of relentless persecution. It is with these men, the only ultras of our country, that the Editors of the Intelligencer have entered into league; and in order to call off the public eye from the odious character of the cause to which they have embarked, they, with more malice than cunnig, apply, to the Administration and its supporters, a name which they are conscious fits only themselves and their factious associates.

Something like the caucus Experiment.—In various parts of Galloway large crags are to be met with, having very ancient writings on them, some of which the antiquary deciphers, but others not; one of these, on the farm of Knockibay, has cut deep, on the upper side—

"Lift me up, an' I'll tell ye more."

A number of people at one time gathered to this rock, and after much labor, succeeded in lifting it up, with the hopes, no doubt, of being well paid for their trouble with the treasure beneath; but how must they have been disappointed, when, instead of finding any gold, they found written on its ground side—

"Lay me down as I was before."

The Caucus of 1824 was a similar experiment made by some leaders who did not believe they were in a minority then, and who, strange to tell, still pretend they are a majority of the American people.

By an act of the last Legislature of Kentucky, all lands in that state are forfeited to the Commonwealth which are not taken possession of in person, or by tenant, before the 1st of August, 1825."

TAN-YARD, for Sale or Lease.

THE subscriber wishing to close his business in this place, will sell, or lease for any number of years, his Tan-Yard and Plantation. The Tan-yard adjoins this town, and has at this time twenty-nine vats in operation, with sufficient suitable space for sinking any number that may be desired, supplied by a never failing stream of water. The surrounding country abounds in all the variety of oak, which produces the best quality of bark for tanning leather, of which there is a large quantity on the land. Attached to the tan-yard are the necessary buildings for carrying on every branch of the business completely, with a cast-iron bark mill for one horse, which is capable of grinding one cord of bark a day. I will sell along with the tan-yard any quantity of land, from ten to four hundred and eighty acres, forty acres of which are cleared and now in a state of cultivation. The land in point of quality is equal to any upland in this state, and is particularly adapted to the production of corn and cotton.

The above advantages, when combined with the healthiness of the place, must render it a very desirable situation for any person disposed to engage in that line of business. As it is presumed that no person will purchase or lease without viewing the premises, a further description is deemed unnecessary. For terms, which will be very accommodating, apply to the subscriber near Laurel Hill, Richmond county, or to Mr. Neill MacLaurin his agent at this place.

NOTICE

THE subscriber begs leave of his friends, to return them his thanks, for the continuation of their custom, he feels particularly obliged to those who have been in the habit of supplying his orders, when it was not (as will sometimes be the case) perfectly convenient for him to send the money.—He would take this opportunity, however, to request them, and the public generally, not to deliver any articles for the future on his account, unless on personal application, or by written order.
